

We are all relatively guilty of setting new year's resolutions and subsequently breaking them as quick as possible.

Never mind personal new year's resolutions have a look at the employment new year resolutions below:

1. Change my password to something a little more secure than "password" or "1234".
2. Stop telling the same story of my career successes and get on being successful in my current job.
3. I will try to complete the whole year without forgetting to attach an attachment to an email!!
4. Whilst on a conference call at home I will ensure that I put the phone on mute when visiting the toilet!
5. Inherit another Grandparent to get a special day off for their funeral this year.
6. Make sure I send in my sick note when I come back from sick leave and not before I go on sick leave!
7. I am gay, black, Hindu and disabled..... this year I want to get another one of the protective characteristics
8. Over under promise and over deliver always.
9. Make sure that my employer is not a friend on Facebook before I slag them off!
10. Make sure that my sick days are not in a regular pattern thus avoiding suspicion (note to self: make sure that I am not seen playing football on sick either).

Watch out for our next issue of 'HR Inc Funnies'.
