

business focused, people focused

HR Inc Press Release – 21st September 2011

Another Successful Year of Trading

In this difficult economic climate it is noticeably difficult to start a new business. However, HR Inc Ltd has been trading since July 2009 and has managed to secure another successful year of growth in providing HR Consultancy Services.

The rebranding of HR Inc and the new HR Inc website, developed by Plug and Play Southampton, has contributed to this success.

HR Inc experienced a significant demand in outsourcing support for large and small scale companies primarily in the IT sector with some major clients. This included providing specialized commercially focused HR consultancy for large global deals that required our support from the initial client presentations through commercial negotiations and through to transitioning the project/employees.

HR Inc are looking forward to further success this year in expanding our services and client base and adding a product offering to businesses to help them manage people the 'easy way'. To meet the demand for our services we hope to be increasing our consultancy base and resources over the next year.
